

Chapter
SIX
LANDSCAPING

At PCM, landscaping is an integral part of the home construction and, depending on the allotted budget, the options are limitless. Most of the rough landscaping is completed in conjunction with the construction of the home. Some of the prominent features of a PCM home are large basement windows with landscaped tiered window wells, saltwater swimming pools, gazebos, and exterior fireplaces. These are only some of the extraordinary and elegant features commonly found in a PCM home.

Landscaping is always considered when the home is being designed. PCM not only guides the home construction project to ensure your interior needs are fulfilled, but also places the same emphasis on your exterior living.

When investing in a home, you want to be able to enjoy and cherish every facet of the entire property which is why it is so important to select the correct location.

When considering the innumerable design options available, it is crucial to examine the functionality, desirability and durability of each design. PCM insures that all three elements are considered, met and surpassed. Unfortunately many builders will only focus on one aspect and will often lack the insight or experience needed to fully interpret and bring your desires to fruition. PCM insures a complete turnkey operation and that is why all landscaping is considered at the beginning, before the home is built.

There is nothing lovelier than gazing out the window and having your eye drawn to the restful beauty of a deftly landscaped garden. PCM understands the complexity of integrating indoor and outdoor living and focuses on creating a seamless beauty both within and outside your luxury home. Whether you require an outside entertainment area or a tranquil garden retreat, PCM knows how to successfully make your landscape dreams a reality.